Product Description

99% Cas 1094-61-7 B Nicotinamide Mononucleotide(B-NMN) Powder For Anti-Aging

β -nicotinamide mononucleotide (β -NMN) is a naturally occurring substance that plays an important role in the human body. It is a precursor to NAD⁺ (nicotinamide adenine dinucleotide), an important coenzyme that participates in various cellular processes, including energy metabolism, DNA repair, and anti-aging.

β -NMN is a dietary supplement that is available in a variety of forms, including capsules, tablets, and powders. It is typically taken orally, and the recommended dosage varies depending on the product and the individual.

β -NMN is a popular supplement for its potential anti-aging benefits. Studies have shown that β -NMN can help to increase NAD⁺ levels, which can lead to some positive effects, including:

- Improved energy levels
- Reduced inflammation
- Increased cognitive function
- Improved skin health

β -NMN is also a potential treatment for a variety of other conditions, including:

- Heart disease
- Diabetes
- Cancer
- Alzheimer's disease

β -NMN is a safe and well-tolerated supplement for most people. However, it is important to talk to your doctor before taking β -NMN, especially if you have any underlying health conditions.
